

Butler, Jennie C

---

From: Henney, Jane
Sent: Tuesday, May 18, 1999 10:52 AM
To: EXECSEC
Subject: FW: Banning Medical-Use Antibiotics in Animal Feed

-----
From: peterroi@severnapark.com[SMTP:PETERROI@SEVERNAPARK.COM]
Sent: Tuesday, May 18, 1999 10:53:37 AM
To: JHenney@test.oc.fda.gov
Subject: Banning Medical-Use Antibiotics in Animal Feed
Auto forwarded by a Rule

Dear Madam:

While I understand that antibiotics aid in the economical production of animals for food, I'm a member of the Center for Science in the Public Interest (CSPI) and I support the CSPI petition to ban the use of antibiotics that are medically useful for human health and treatment.

You can save the lives of human beings by banning the use of medically useful antibiotics in animal feed. You will be sacrificing human lives if you don't because adding such antibiotics to feed in order to artificially promote the growth of animals can and does make certain bacteria resistant to those antibiotics, leaving physicians with fewer or no ways to treat life-threatening bacterial infections in humans. That's why I support the petition filed by CSPI.

Respectfully submitted,

Peter Roidakis

99P-0485

C 354